

DDH LLC

It is a haze-filled night in Los Angeles. It is 3 AM and the city is still teeming with life.

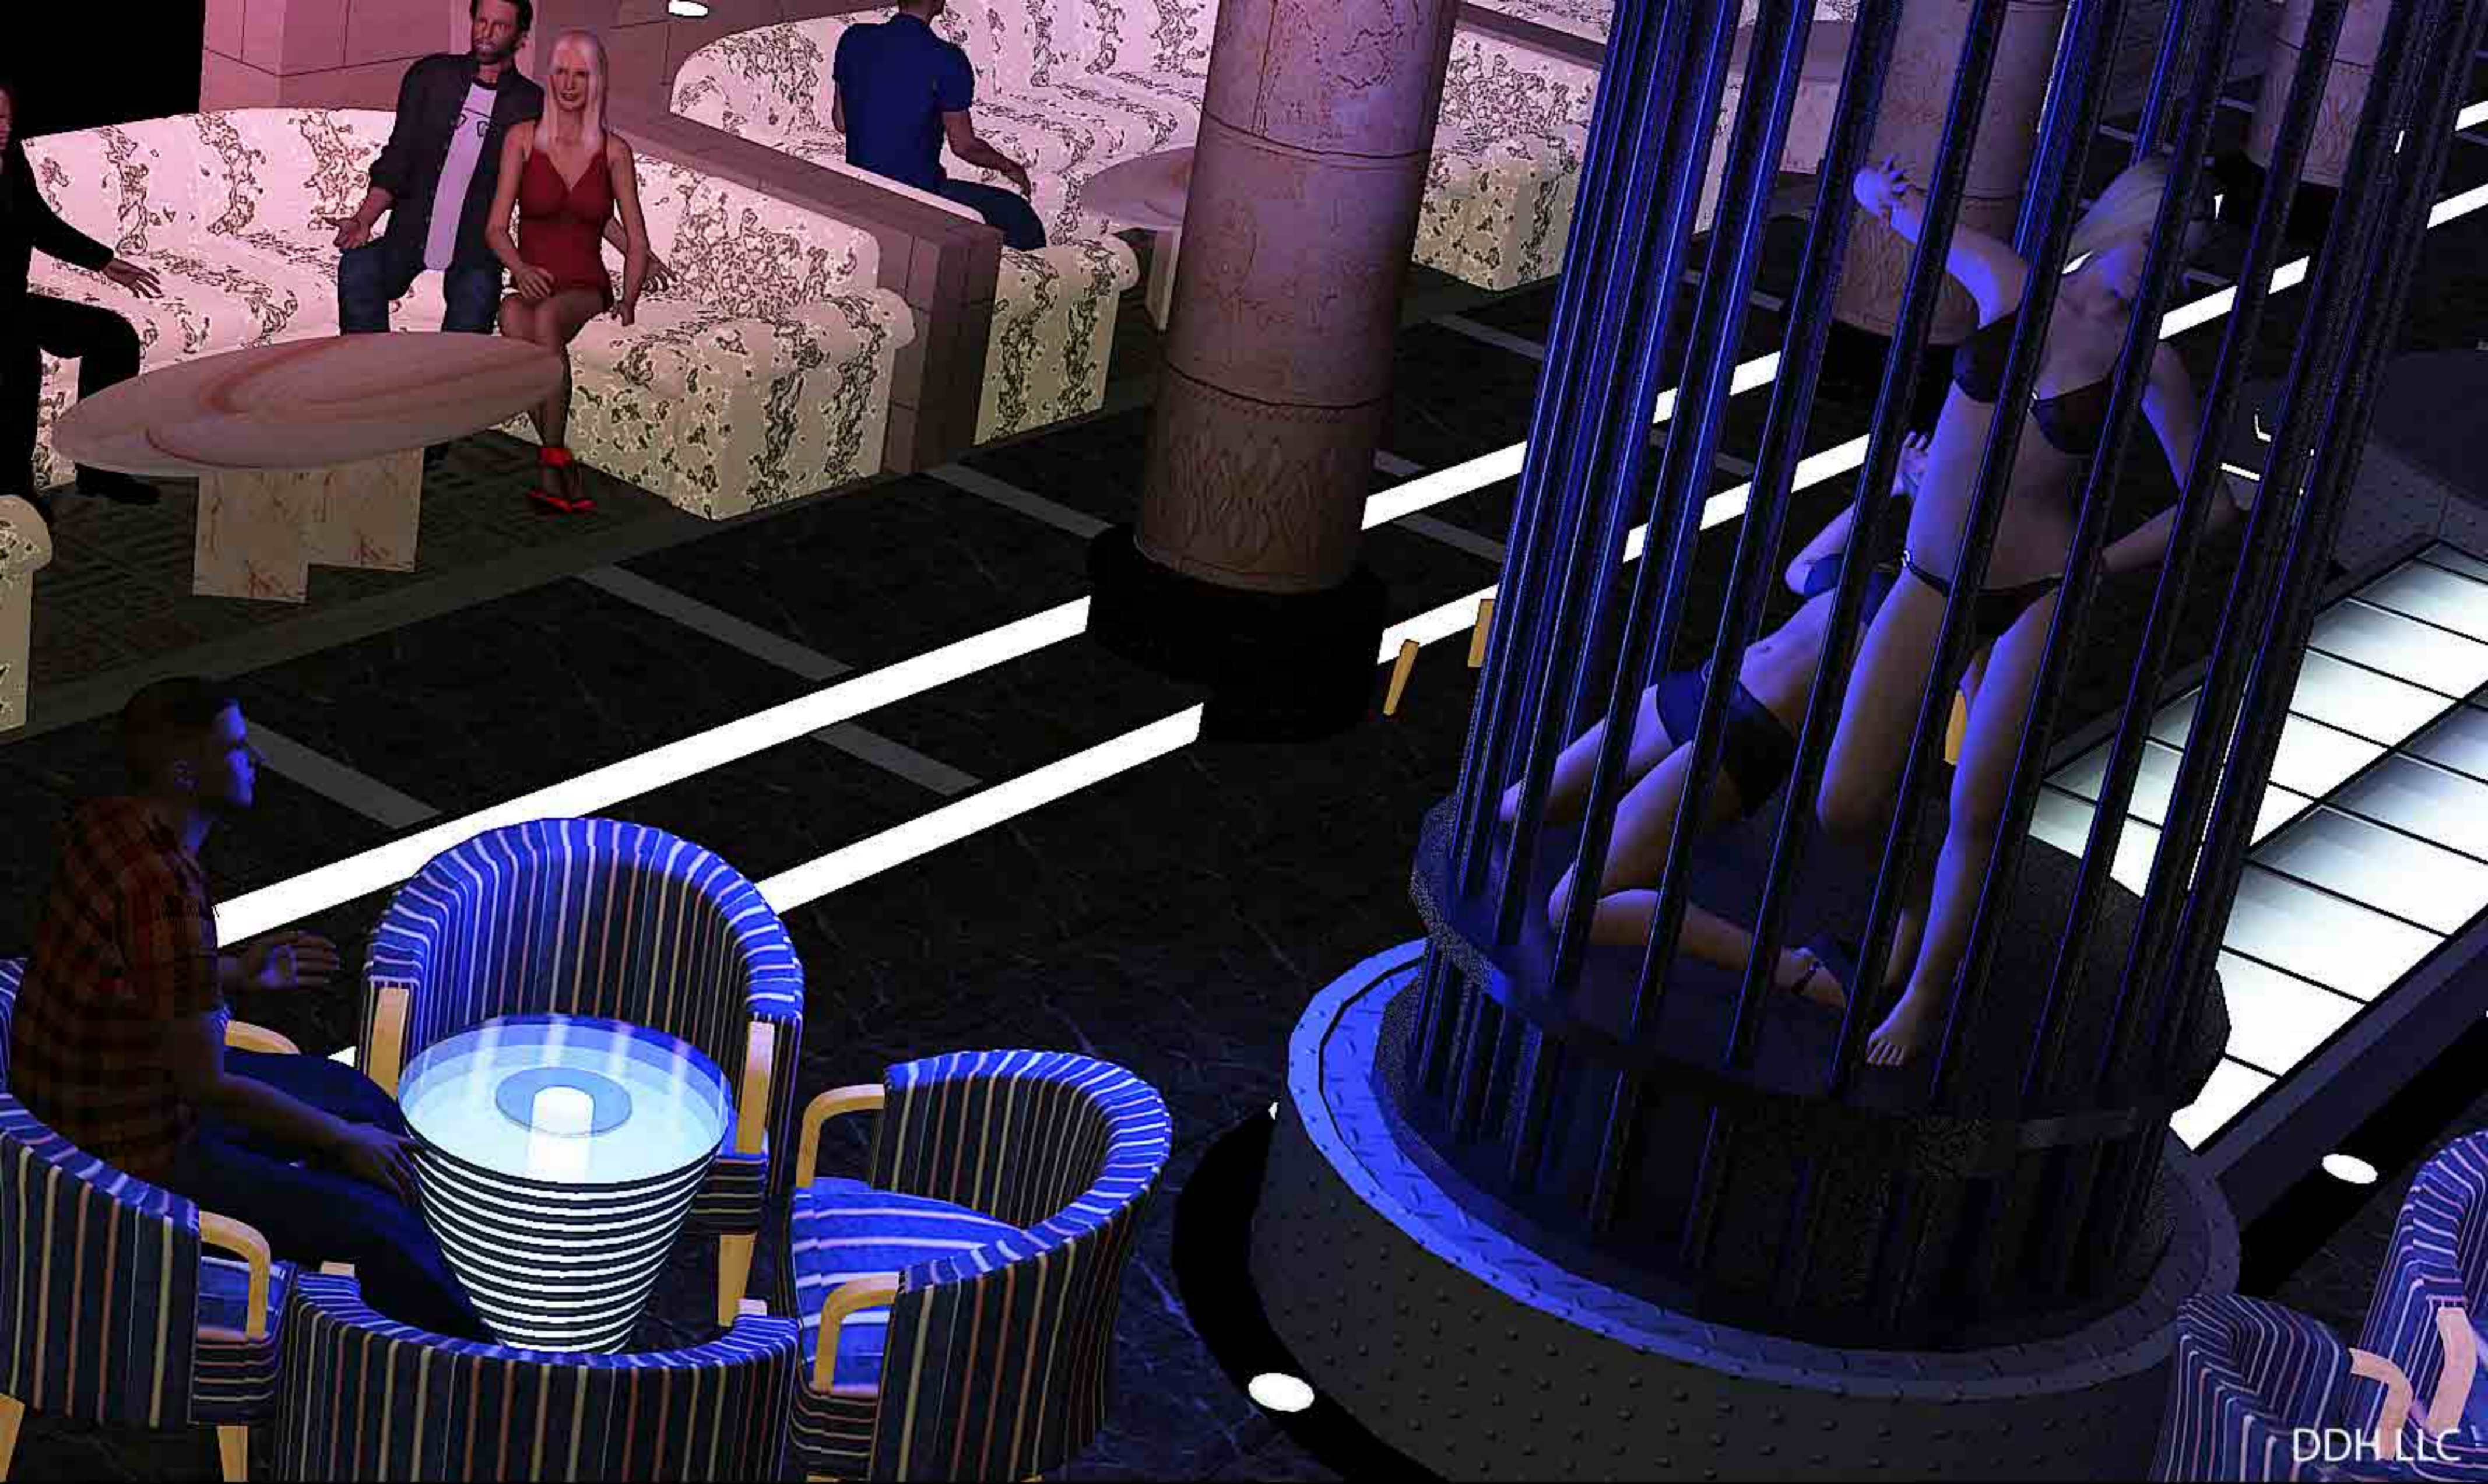

For many, it is a sleepless night as people go about their businesses tending to their own affairs, or hang out at their favorite places.

DDH LLC

Among the popular hangouts late at night in this city, there lies a grand nightclub.

Behind this fancy facade, however, is where the seedy underbelly of LA begins to show itself.

The incessant strobe lights make for a nice atmosphere inside, taking attention away from the people who patronize the place: loners, escorts, figures of the underworld.

Just another day and another night, it seems, but not to Detectives Jim Gonzalez and Sayuri Smith.

DDH LLC

The two are after the notorious Jerry Thompson, a man they have been tailing for months now, but could never properly apprehend him without evidence. They've finally got a lead, and their months of hard work is about to wrap up.

DDH LLC

At the back of the casino there leads a hallway to several VIP rooms. All that can be heard is the muffled bass from the music out in the main area.

DDH LLC

Inside one of the rooms, Jerry Thompson is conducting a little business of his own.

Jerry Thompson: It took me a while to find you, Norman, but I did what I had to do. Now, I finally have you in my hands.